

POLYMORPHIC POP GODDESS

sensuous and ravenous-channelling carnal lust...superstars-erotically charged-arising from cosmic dust...from cher to madonna-from gaga to rihanna...mary charges sia-whitney paid homage to chaka...express yourself don't repress yourself-an ageless diva once crooned...just like fire belted pink-me'shell delivered a bitter love song to the moon...the rhythms and melodies change-but the subterranean yearning holds strong...for a love that burns transcendant-for peace and justice-for freedom songs...the ancients had their pantheons-polymorphic deities...in our age of decrepit bourgeois decadence we live with fragile celebrity...rebellion writhes from within our fractured polity...the force is strong in songs that long for a new reality...we must challenge the bigotry that slams a door to the refugee...that makes trans-folk fear the fist of nefarious policy...we can't vogue our way to freedom-or just dance 'til the fog clears...we can't love S&M in private but stand silent when the right appears...our divas are our anchor-in formation-fierce and feminist...pure beauty like beyonce-clad in black with armored fists...it's time to build some barricades-rebellions are built on hope...its time to re-imagine our future-super-fly and utterly dope
